Magic Johnson's NEW AIDS PANIC

BASKETBALL great Magic Johnson is terrified his gay son's party-hearty lifestyle will put him at risk for contracting the AIDS virus, sources say.

The former Los Angeles Lakers star was diagnosed with HIV in 1991 and believes he contracted the virus through unprotected sex. Now Magic, 53, fears his flamboyant 20-year-old son Earvin Johnson III, known as E.J., will booze his way to a similar health crisis if he's not careful, sources say.

"Magic's tried to have a conversation with E.J. about not drinking, at least until he turns 21," revealed a source. "But E.J. is a headstrong young man."

"NEVERTHELESS, MAGIC HAS pointed out to him that drinking leads to poor decision-making, especially when it comes to sex."

E.J., a student at New York University, came out to his famous dad and mom Cookie years ago. But his sexuality made headlines recently when he was photographed clutching hands with his boyfriend on L.A.'s Sunset Strip.

Afterward, Magic told a reporter: "I love E.J. so much, that's my main man...I'm behind him a million percent."

But sources say Magic became deeply concerned about his son's partying after E.J. posted a message on Twitter last August about getting free drinks at a Big Apple gay bar called TOY. E.J.'s boozing is especially worrisome to Magic, who once filmed a public service ad for Coors beer as part of a campaign against underage drinking!

"Now that he's 'out and proud,' Magic feels that E.J. has a duty to set an example for other young gay men to act responsibly," said the source. "That means waiting until he's 21 to go out drinking – and, even then, to watch how much he consumes."

"The last thing he wants is for E.J. to become HIV-positive."

REAL Housewives of Atlanta" star Phaedra Parks was stunned by a sleazy extortion attempt threatening to expose her husband as an adulterer – but she caught the inept blackmailer in an outrageous lie.

The blackmail plot unfolded in early March when the 40-year-old attorney started receiving calls from a stranger claiming she hooked up with Phaedra's bodybuilder husband Apollo Nida.

The woman said she had a hotel receipt as proof of the one-night stand in 2012 and allegedly demanded hush money to keep it secret. But furious Phaedra refused to pay up, and in early April the blackmailer posted an account of the supposed night of passion on an Internet blog.

Although the perpetrator described herself as a 20-year-old college student, her post was filled with childish misspellings and twisted grammar. "Apollo told me he was unhappy married," she wrote. "I asked him why he didn't have on his ring but he informed me that him and his wife was separated."

Cast of "Real Housewives of Atlanta"

The post included a Holiday Inn receipt, but Phaedra immediately knew that the hotel bill, dated Oct. 24, was a fake.

"She and Apollo had spent that day doing radio interviews together to promote their workout video," said the insider.

The extortion attempt came at an extremely hectic time for Phaedra, who's about to deliver the couple's second child. She's also working full-time at her law firm and taping her own spinoff show for Bravo.

Although attractive women have been known to throw themselves at Phaedra's handsome husband, the source said: "She trusts Apollo 100 percent."

NICKI MINAJ SLAMS 'IDOL' JUDGES

Nicki is the most hated judge on "AI," but she thinks Mariah Carey, Keith Urban and Randy Jackson are boring

As show's ratings plunge,
SHE HEAPS BLAME ON MARIAH, KEITH & RANDY

NICKI MINAJ may be the most hated judge on "American Idol," but the controversial rapper believes she's the only one who can save the 12-year-old show after it hit a shocking all-time ratings low in late March.

Nicki, who's frequently bashed on social media sites, squarely blames her fellow judges – Mariah Carey, Keith Urban and Randy Jackson – for making the FOX series tired and boring.

INCREDIBLY, THE ONCE TOP-RATED COMPETITION has suffered a major ratings decline, plummeting about 20 percent for the second year in a row. What's more, for the first time its rival "The Voice" attracted more viewers with its recent season premiere.

"Nicki believes she's the one carrying the show," revealed an "Idol" insider.

"She's had enough of the fans' online hatred because she feels she's the only one who is at least trying to make the show more interesting.

"Off-camera Nicki doesn't pull any punches. She believes Mariah sends viewers to sleep with her dialed-back performances, and she says, Keith sits on the fence far too often and gives half-hearted compliments to practically every contestant. As for Randy – Nicki says he's the same old Randy."

Mariah has fired back, saying that outspoken Nicki is the reason the ratings have dropped. But Nicki blasts Mariah for "making viewers yawn," revealed the source.

"Nicki also thinks that Keith is too concerned about his public image to be brutally honest with contestants, and that after 11 years Randy's 'dawg' shtick is just plain worn out."

Concerned that the show needs a huge shot of adrenaline, the source says Nicki has taken matters into her own hands. "Besides the zany outfits and her big personality, she's constantly thinking about ways to make the show more edgy," noted the source.

"Idol" fans who despise feisty Nicki have launched a Facebook page dedicated to giving her the boot – but even that will help the show,

Nicki believes she's the one carrying the show says the source. "Nicki is the only one people are talking about. You never hear anything about Randy, Keith or Mariah because there is nothing interesting to say."

"The producers need to put more caffeine in their drinks to pep them up. Nicki may be the most hated judge on 'Idol,' but she's still the show's standout star – and right now they need all the publicity they can get."

The country legend almost lost her husband Cactus Moser in a motorcycle accident last August

WYNONNA JUDD'S AN 'EMOTIONAL WRECK'

WYNONNA JUDD was the first celebrity to get the boot from "Dancing with the Stars," but sources say it was a blessing in disguise because she's a heart attack waiting to happen!

The 48-year-old country legend admits she was "devastated" to be eliminated from the hit ABC show. But an insider says she was pushing herself to the breaking point between the grueling dance workouts, her extreme exercise regimen and caring for her husband, who nearly died twice in recent months.

"Wynonna is a physical and emotional wreck – a ticking time bomb," warned an insider.

"HEALTH-WISE, IT'S a good thing she got bounced from the show."

The 5-foot-5 performer, who tips the scales at 245 pounds, binges on double and even triple portions of salty, fried foods and sweets and then desperately tries to get in shape with exhausting workout sessions that run as long as three hours a day, according to the insider.

"She's been complaining that all the physical activity leaves her short of breath and in horrible pain."

The week before her elimination from "DWTS," the mother of two collapsed during a particularly strenuous dance session with partner Tony Dovolani, revealed the source.

"Tony rushed to Wy's side and applied cool compresses to her forehead while she cried out that she had shooting pains in her chest."

The "No One Else on Earth" singer is also reeling from the intense stress of husband Michael "Cactus" Moser's nearly fatal Aug. 18 motorcycle accident, which cost him his lower left leg.

The 55-year-old drummer later had a second brush with death when he accidentally overdosed on morphine he was taking for the pain.

"Between caring for Cactus and tending to her career, Wynonna barely has a moment to catch her breath," said the source.

"[Her mom] Naomi and [sister] Ashley worry that if she keeps up this crazy pace, she's putting herself at risk for a heart attack."

KARDASHIAN matriarch Kris Jenner's boozing is so out of control her friends are worried she's going to destroy the family empire!

Things are so bad that the 57-year-old was even caught on camera drunk driving. Her husband Bruce is said to be sick and tired of her antics – and her famous daughters fear that her bad behavior could put the family's $180 million bank account at risk.

"Kris doesn't think she has a problem," said a source. "She has been drinking like a fish, and it just seems to be getting worse."

Kris Jenner DRUNK-DRIVING SHAME

Kris downed several glasses of wine before taking off on a jet ski in the Dominican Republic

Furious hubby Bruce SICK OF KARDASHIAN MOM'S ANTICS!

During a vacation in the Dominican Republic last summer, Kris downed several glasses of wine before jumping onto the driver's seat of a personal watercraft — with daughter Kim on back! Petrified, Kim leapt off and swam back to a boat where the rest of the family was watching in stunned disbelief.

The dangerous incident was documented in an episode of "Keeping Up with the Kardashians."

"What Kris did is extremely dangerous and I believe it shows that she has a problem with alcohol," Dr. Damon Raskin, an addiction expert and counselor at California's Cliffside Malibu rehab facility, told The ENQUIRER.

"I think it may have taught her a valuable lesson had the police arrested her and put her in jail."

KRIS ALSO TWEETED PICTURES OF HER CLEAVAGE after a night of drinking at a Mexican restaurant in August, and in March, she boozed it up at her son Rob's 26th birthday party in Las Vegas.

As The ENQUIRER previously reported, her hubby Bruce Jenner has already secretly contacted lawyers about divorcing Kris in what could be a battle over the $180 million family fortune.

"Bruce is fed up with her antics," said the source. "He's sick and tired of her boozing and has told her so."

Regis Philbin's BOOZY NIGHTMARE

So much for an easy retirement! Regis Philbin has a full-time job monitoring his wife Joy's love of drinking.

"Joy is Regis' whole world, and he seems to be very concerned about how much wine she's been guzzling recently," an insider told The ENQUIRER.

Joy's boozing apparently came to the attention of fellow passengers aboard a flight she and Regis took from L.A. to New York's JFK on March 24.

"JOY LOOKED LIKE SHE'D HAD A FEW BEFORE boarding," revealed an eyewitness. "When they were shown their first-class seats, Joy complained about the size of the plane.

"She huffed, 'I don't get it. I seem to pay more and more to these (bleeping) airlines and get less and less!'"

Wife's antics on flight leave him looking 'HUMILIATED'
— INSIDER

Fortunately a quick-thinking flight attendant cracked open a bottle of bubbly and promptly handed Joy, 72, a glass, said the source.

"Regis looked mortified. He passed on the champagne and had a club soda instead."

After takeoff, Joy held up her glass to the flight attendant, who quickly poured a refill. Then she asked for another, according to the source.

"By glass number four, Regis drew his finger across his throat, gesturing for the attendant to cut Joy off."

The source said Joy was "slurring her words," and her 81-year-old husband looked like he was "humiliated."

"Joy eventually conked out," added the source. "But Regis seemed really troubled and just stared out the window."

WITH a name like Ocean Ramsey, it's little wonder the 27-year-old beauty has a special fondness for the sea and its creatures.

But Ocean's love for the most terrifying of the deep blue's inhabitants has her going to incredible depths to protect them — she swims with great white sharks!

Raised by a family of water lovers in San Diego and Hawaii, Ocean now lives on the island of Oahu and works as a model, scuba instructor, free diver and shark conservationist.

So far, she has swum with 32 species of sharks around the globe. But it's her adventures with the ocean's most fearsome predator — the great white — that have caught the world's attention.

Donning little more than a wet suit and fins, and without any safety equipment, the gorgeous blonde enters their domain to prove that the massive beasts are misunderstood. As a friend takes stunning photos and videos of the incredible encounters, Ocean swims peacefully alongside the sharks. Some have even let her hitch a ride by holding onto their fins!

"I feel so fortunate that some of the greatest moments of my life have been diving with great white sharks," she says.

OCEAN DOESN'T RECOMMEND THAT others attempt to swim with great whites, but her free-diving skills and knowledge of shark behavior make her uniquely suited to do it. And she feels she's made a real connection with the animals.

"A lot can be said between two creatures that don't speak the same language," Ocean adds. "It's difficult to express the incredible joy and breathtaking emotion experienced by locking eyes with a great white."

Funicello family's heartbreakin decision

They couldn't stand seeing her suffer anymore

As Annette Funicello lay comatose, her frail body ravaged by a decades-long battle with multiple sclerosis, her children made the heartbreaking decision to remove the beloved star from life support.

She slipped away peacefully on April 8 at the age of 70.

"In the end, poor Annette was a shell of her former self," said a source close to the former Mouseketeer. "Her kids [Gina, 47, Jack Jr., 43, and Jason, 38] all agreed that to keep their mom alive on machines was no kind of life for her."

"It was just cruel to prolong things."

But convincing their mom's protective second husband, Glen Holt, that it was the right thing to do was no easy task. There had long been bad blood between Glen and Annette's children from her first marriage. They felt that he'd isolated her from her family when he moved her to a remote ranch in rural Bakersfield, Calif., two years ago after their Los Angeles home burned down.

"The kids sat down and talked with Glen about pulling the plug," said the source. "Initially, he didn't want to do it. He didn't want to let her go."

In the end, they managed to bury the hatchet – and decided together to end Annette's suffering.

BEACH PARTY

In 1963, Annette and heartthrob Frankie Avalon played surfing teens in the first of five wildly popular "Beach Party" movies

The former teen idol was born Oct. 22, 1942, in Utica, N.Y., and moved to Los Angeles with her family when she was 4. She began taking dance lessons soon after arriving in L.A. and won her first beauty contest when she was just 9.

She got her big break when at age 12 Walt Disney discovered her dancing the lead in "Swan Lake" at the Starlight Bowl in Burbank in 1955, and he immediately invited her to audition for his new children's TV variety show, "The Mickey Mouse Club."

ANNETTE WAS HIRED ON THE SPOT TO BE A "Mouseketeer" and quickly emerged as the most popular member of the group — receiving a reported 6,000 fan letters a month.

In the 1960s, she became the screen queen of the beach flicks, starring alongside fellow teen idol Frankie Avalon in such movies as "Beach Party," "Muscle Beach Party" and "Beach Blanket Bingo."

In 1992, she revealed that she had been diagnosed with MS five years earlier, not

Annette with hubby Glen in 1993. He moved her to a remote ranch after their L.A. home burned down two years ago

FOR many of America's baby boomers, pert little brunette Annette Funicello was their first big crush. They fell in love with her on "The Mickey Mouse Club," and then watched her surf her way into Frankie Avalon's heart in the "Beach Party" movies. After she lost her brave fight with multiple sclerosis, heartbroken Avalon said: "She was a very courageous gal that fought and fought and fought. I'm devastated. I loved her."

long after marrying second husband Glen. While Glen, 82, was a devoted caregiver to Annette, his decision to spirit her away to the secluded Bakersfield ranch caused a rift with her children.

"Annie and Glen lived out in the sticks," said the insider. "It was like she was being held captive."

The source said that Glen had been calling most of the shots, spending the last 20 years trying numerous experimental treatments in a desperate attempt to find a cure.

"He loved Annette dearly and I think he actually believed that he could help make her better," explained the source.

Sadly, it wasn't to be. Annette's condition took a drastic turn for the worse in recent months.

"During the last days of her life, Annette's family all came to say their goodbyes," added the source. "That's when her kids and Glen made up. There was a lot of crying and hugging before they made the fateful decision to let Annette go. But they all knew she would have wanted it that way."

■ DIRTY OLD MAN DEPT.: Middle-age "Entourage" star JEREMY PIVEN, acting all smarmy and practically drooling, hit on two barely-legal girls at an LA charity concert – braying: "I can get you backstage to meet celebrities," and begging the eye-rolling teens to "come to my place!" Reports My Dirty Old SpyWitness: "The girls were totally turned off, and one of them reported the incident to her father – who's also a famous TV series star. After hearing about Piven's creepy move, Daddy – famous also for his muscles – went ballistic, then calmed down and told his daughter he's proud of her for resisting. But he's furious at Piven!" And now it's...REVENGE TIME!! Star Daddy's blabbing about Piven's sleazy behavior all over Hollywood!

■ ATTENTION JOURNALISTS, PAPARAZZI, AIRLINE CREWS: After suddenly dropping out of the Broadway play "Orphans" following a bitter "creative differences" battle with ALEC BALDWIN, SHIA LABEOUF – who's been an amateur boxer for years – was spotted days later at an LA martial arts supply store kicking the living hell out of a padded dummy, cursing it and screaming, "ALEC!" After working up a sweat, Shia hung up the gloves and told the puzzled clerk: "I'll take it...and I'm naming him Alec!" (Mine was delivered yesterday...what FUN!!)

■ When TAYLOR SWIFT's beloved Scottish Fold pet cat Meredith disappeared during a concert in South Carolina, a massive search was launched – and it suddenly looked like singer and feline were never, ever, ever getting back together! Said My Swift Spy: "Meredith often accompanies Taylor on tour, curls up on a chair in her dressing trailer, then greets her like a puppy dog when she comes offstage. But this time, Taylor came back and – NO Meredith! Immediately,

'Playbook' pal Bradley proves Scaredy-cat Jen's NO 'Katniss'!

SCARY MOVIE DEPT.: "Silver Linings Playbook" scamps JENNIFER LAWRENCE and BRADLEY COOPER had a blast playing practical jokes on each other while lensing their still-untitled movie in Boston – you'll recall I just scooped about how Brad topped Jen with his hilarious plastic penis gag – but suddenly, the mood turned...grave! Said an on-set source: "They were planning to shoot a night scene in an old Boston cemetery when Jennifer, who's usually up for anything, told the director and her male co-stars, Bradley and CHRISTIAN BALE, that she was feeling uneasy and scared. She insisted she must never be left alone during the shoot – and asked that they film as fast as possible, then get the hell out. Everyone agreed, and her co-stars tried to calm her down." Nice guys, right? WRONG! What Jennifer didn't know was that Bradley and Bale got the prop guys to carve a fake tombstone – then plant it right where they'd be filming. So on the night, under pale moonlight, Oscar winner Jen suppressed a shiver as the director yelled, "ACTION!"...but bravely stepped into the ancient graveyard – and screamed as she spotted a gravestone that read: "JENNIFER LAWRENCE, born August 15, 1890. Died April 1, 1913." Shaking in terror, Jennifer shrieked: "That's MY name!...Is this just a coincidence, or am I going to die?" Laughing their fool heads off, the jolly jesters chilled Jen by pointing out that the tombstone date of her "expiration" was APRIL 1... "That's April Fool's Day, dummy," howled the guys. Everyone had a laugh-to-die-for – except Jennifer, who demanded they shoot the scene quickly, then beelined for her limo and lickety-split back to the hotel!

YANKS A MILLION!

OUCH! Jada Pinkett Smith endures a hair-raising moment at the hands of "Good Morning America" stylists who pulled too hard. But the beaming beauty proves it's not hard to pull off perfection.

she began calling the cat, bursting into tears when it didn't appear. Dozens of workers fanned out from her dressing trailer and the star – sobbing like crazy – joined them! Finally, a stagehand yelled: "HERE SHE IS...SAFE AND SOUND!" Racing over, Taylor grabbed Meredith, locked her in the trailer for safekeeping – then read her personal staff the riot act, telling them: "If my trailer door's left open again, you'll all be looking for new jobs!"

■ GONE IN A FLASH!! ASHTON KUTCHER just got dumped from his years-long gig as spokesperson for Nikon cameras because he got greedy – demanding DOUBLE his multimillion-dollar$$ salary to renew the contract. Infuriated by his hoggish arrogance, Nikon didn't even try to renegotiate, and is searching for a hunkier – and cheaper – unknown to replace the "Two and a Half Men" star.

Here's my new scoop-dee-doo on DANNY DEVITO and RHEA PERLMAN: The just recon-smiled lovebirds will renew their marriage vows in a private ceremony before immediate family and very close friends at the couple's favorite vacation spot in Mexico! Insiders say that the ceremony was Danny's idea. "He's acting like a little schoolboy in love, and wants to blot out the memory of their once-broken marriage by renewing their vows. Danny can't stop talking about how lucky he is that Rhea's given him a second chance."

I SAY, CHUBBY CHEEKS! Normally even-keeled, the very pregnant Princess of Our Hearts KATE MIDDLETON went stark raving bonkers when Prince Charming – aka hubby WILLIAM – affectionately called her... "Chipmunk Cheeks!" Gasped My Royal Spy: "Kate was so upset! She actually got teary and sobbed: 'Are you saying my cheeks are fat? Because I'M getting fat?'" Stammering and sputtering, Wills apologized profusely, explaining it was a term of endearment, and that she's glowing...radiant...more beautiful than any woman...blah, blah, blah! Kate finally forgave, says my source, and hours later beamed as a flower bouquet from Wills arrived, with a note that said: "For my Kate, my beauty, my wife. I'm the luckiest man in the world." Aaaawwww!

Lunch breaks on the set of "Anger Management" are usually one hour, but cast and crew joke that they always know when it's going to stretch up to two hours – depending on how many hookers CHARLIE SHEEN has in his trailer! "Cast and crew joke that if it's two or more girls, lunch is going to run an extra hour," said a Warlock source. But here's the good news: "Charlie's always in a great mood!"

BOLDFACE TWEETS DEPT.: Comments from this week's Celebrity Twitter-Heads were both pithy – and pithed-off! JULIA LOUIS-DREYFUS tweeted @OfficialJLD: "U know why they don't really tell u certain realities about aging? Because u'd kill yourself. #whyisthathairthere?" And in-yer-face funnygal ROSEANNE BARR tweeted @TheRealRoseanne: "they can't give our kids decent jobs so instead they give them booze and porn and guns. #notsmartthinking #barr2016." (FYI, folks: I'm @IMwalkergossip.)

HEAVY METAL MOMENT: Iron-willed Robert Downey Jr. might not look so cool if he knew who was sneaking up behind him. The actor was in South Korea to promote his new flick "Iron Man 3."

NO FREEBIES! Klassy KATE MIDDLETON's being bombarded by freebie care packages of maternity and baby clothes from the world's top designers, who fervently pray that Princess of Our Hearts and her new baby will be spotted – and/or photographed – wearing them! Personally poring through the gifts, fashionista Kate chooses the mommy clothes she wants to wear, then insists on having her personal secretary send immediate payment – and ship back all the rejects. And because Kautious Kate doesn't want to telegraph even a hint of Baby's gender, she's putting the kiddie outfits aside and won't inspect them until after the blessed event.

YES, FREEBIES! JESSICA SIMPSON, pregnant with her second child, is drowning in such a flood of gifts she could open a baby store – or better yet, a Ripley's Believe It or Not! Museum. Among the oddball offerings: designer barf bags and miniature dust mops that attach to baby so the little one can floor-clean while crawling! And how about the whiz-bang baby bum fan that dries the little one's rear; or the special diaper that emits an alarm whenever Tyke takes a humpty-dumpty. The only item Jess actually plans to use is a plastic toddler urinal...turns out she and fiance ERIC JOHNSON are expecting a boy-by!

WILL FERRELL was lensing a heart-to-heart "talk" scene with his dog for "Anchorman 2" that called for the pooch to abruptly stop jawing – and bite him in the butt! Wisely, Will had put on padding for protection and didn't feel a thing – but as he got up to leave for the day, giving the dog a pat, the ungrateful little nipper leaped up and bit his unprotected tush. "Holy %$&!" cried Will, wincing. Happily, the dog did not break the skin and forgiving Ferrell realized the tail-wagger was just another actor trying to make it look real!...And how was YOUR week? – with DEBORAH HUGHES

The president receives a warm greeting from California Attorney General Kamala Harris as California Lieutenant Governor Gavin Newsom looks on MICHELLE'S FURY AT HORNDOG OBAMA!

MOVE over, Bo! Your master may soon be joining you in the doghouse!

First lady Michelle Obama was so enraged by her husband's much ballyhooed comments about California Attorney General Kamala Harris' good looks that she's booted him from their bedroom, say sources.

At a Democratic fundraiser in Atherton, Calif., in early April, the 51-year-old president introduced Harris first by calling her "brilliant," then adding: "She also happens to be by far the best looking attorney general in the country." Sticking his foot in mouth even further, he added: "It's true, come on."

Immediately, his remarks went viral on social media outlets with many calling them "inappropriate," "awkward" and even "sexist." "New York" magazine writer Jonathan Chait blasted the comments as "disgraceful and really terrible for workplace equality." And the headline in the "New York Daily News" the following day read: "Obama drools like a fool."

BUT HARRIS' ONETIME BOYFRIEND, FORMER

San Francisco mayor Willie Brown, gave Obama a thumbs-up! "The president gets an absolute high five from me – it's a nice compliment for her," Brown told The ENQUIRER. When asked if he had ever considered marrying Harris, Brown said: "Well, I had a wife. I've been separated since 1980 and I've not been divorced. So Kamala wasn't on my 'wives list.'"

First lady goes nuts as PREZ FLIRTS WITH YET ANOTHER WOMAN

ANOTHER FLIRTY MOMENT:
President Obama and Thai Prime Minister Yingluck Shinawatra

Obama eventually apologized for the remarks, but that apparently did little to soothe his wife. A White House insider revealed that the first lady was livid and told him he was kicked out of their bedroom, adding: "You can sleep on the couch – or in the doghouse. I don't care!"

This isn't the first time the charmer in chief has crossed the line with other women. As The ENQUIRER has reported, Michelle blew up after Barack flirted with 21-year-old beauty queen Yityish "Titi" Aynaw at a March 21 state dinner held in his honor in Israel. And last year, Michelle banned "Scandal" actress Kerry Washington from the White House because of her "flirty" relationship with the president. She also flew into a rage after seeing photos of the president leering at Thailand's stunning prime minister, Yingluck Shinawatra.

But his most recent transgression was especially painful for Michelle because she gave up a promising law career to get married and raise a family, explains the insider. In contrast, still-single Kamala, 48, is the first African-American and South Asian Attorney General in California, and she's considered a potential presidential candidate in 2016.

Michelle was so upset by Barack's gushing over Harris that she inadvertently referred to herself as a "busy single mother" during a TV interview.

"Michelle is seething," said another White House source. "She feels Barack is completely out of control with his wandering eye and is going to do something really stupid, like Bill Clinton."

The insider added: "You can bet your bottom dollar that Michelle will make sure Kamala Harris isn't spending any time around the White House anytime soon!"

Luxury Skin Care Finally Comes To Walmart!

By Tiffany Strobel*

"Who says the only people who deserve flawless, youthful-looking skin are the rich and famous?"

Serious dark circles? Upper eyelid droop? Dark spots? Wrinkles? Saggy skin? You no longer have to visit high-priced retailers like Sephora, Bloomingdale's, Neiman Marcus, Saks Fifth Avenue, etc. to avail yourself of prestige skin care. After years of being on display at some of the most expensive retail counters in the world, Bremenn Research Labs[®] has been lured into the mass market by the retail giant Walmart. "Let's face it," said Chantelle Daines, Bremenn Spokesperson, "Walmart is the largest retailer in the world.

On any given day more people will see our brand at Walmart than they would in all the prestige retailers combined. And because of the increase in production we are now able to dramatically reduce our costs and pass the savings on to the consumer." Finally, prestige skin care at an affordable price, all thanks to Walmart. See you at the cosmetic counter!

Paula Deen's SAGGY SKIN SPARKS WAR WITH HUBBY

Paula was once pleasingly plump, but now she's left with layers of loose skin

THE Food Network's salty Southern chef Paula Deen is clashing with her husband – because she doesn't want to be sliced and diced by a cosmetic surgeon!

While she's dropped a whopping 40 pounds, Paula has refused to go under the knife to tighten up her saggy body parts. But sources say her hubby Michael Groover is cooking up plans to change her mind.

"MICHAEL REALLY LOVES PAULA'S thinner body and wants her to reward herself with surgery to get rid of the loose skin from her weight loss," a family source told The ENQUIRER.

"Paula's midsection, butt, thighs, upper arms and chin were once pleasingly plump, but now there's a lot of wrinkled layers of loose skin.

"Michael wishes she'd do something about it. He feels that a few simple surgical procedures would be the perfect gift for her after all she's done to drop her weight, but so far Paula isn't budging."

The feisty star admits that she's got a problem with saggy skin, but still insists that cosmetic surgery isn't for her.

The salty Southern chef dropped 40 pounds after being diagnosed with Type 2 diabetes

He wants her to have plastic surgery – BUT SHE SAYS NO WAY!

Michael is cooking up plans to change his wife's mind

"At 66, you'll find your chin in your lap, you know, if you lose that much, because that loose skin has to go somewhere, doesn't it?" she once said in an interview, but later added: "I don't want to be cut on. Folks wake up dead after that surgery sometimes. I'm just scared of it."

Still, sources close to Paula say her tugboat captain hubby Michael, 57, thinks a nip-tuck is just what she needs and keeps trying diplomatically to get his wife of nine years to change her mind, said the source.

"Michael has to tread very lightly when it comes to encouraging Paula about undergoing cosmetic surgery," revealed the insider.

"She wears the pants in their household, so if he pushes her too hard, she'll undoubtedly send him straight to the doghouse."

"Michael is trying to be as subtle as possible, but he's struggling to find super creative ways to drop hints about surgery."

Paula – whose popularity once stemmed from her fatty, unhealthy recipes – did a dietary turnaround after being diagnosed with Type 2 diabetes. The ENQUIRER revealed that news in April 2011 – nearly nine months before she made the official announcement.

Jamie and Bobby Deen followed their mom's lead and also lost a lot of weight

AFTER PAULA BEGAN taking a healthier approach to eating, Michael and her two sons, Jamie, 45, and Bobby, 42, followed her lead, and collectively they dropped nearly 200 pounds.

"Michael has tried everything he can think of to push Paula into getting the surgery," said the source.

"And he knows the excess skin will continue to get worse as time goes on and she loses more weight."

PREGNANT Kim Kardashian has piled on so much weight that medical experts warn she may be putting herself and her baby at high risk for killer diabetes.

Sources say the 5-foot-2 reality star has packed more than 100 pounds onto her normally 119-pound frame. Physicians note that if she has gained that much weight, it's FOUR TIMES more than what is recommended for pregnant women – and she's still got three months to go!

But incredibly, the defiant 32-year-old won't even listen to her baby daddy Kanye West, who's pleading with her to curb her gargantuan appetite, the sources add.

The estimated 220-pound brunette, who's expecting in July, complains it's "bullyish to call a pregnant woman fat," but alarmed physicians, informed of her case, vehemently disagree.

"YOU CAN'T USE PREGNANCY AS AN excuse to eat anything you want," New York-based weight-loss expert Dr. Craig Title, told The ENQUIRER. "The risks of excessive weight gain during pregnancy include hypertension, gestational (Type 2) diabetes, an overweight baby and possible delivery complications."

Dr. Gabe Mirkin, an Orlando, Fla., retired pediatrician, cautioned that women who gain more than 40 pounds during pregnancy are nearly twice as likely to have a very heavy baby – which could spell dire consequences for both the mother and her newborn.

"Most women who have babies weighing more than nine pounds are already diabetic or will become diabetic in the future," said Dr. Mirkin. "And overweight newborns are at high risk for being obese adults and developing diabetes later on." But such dire news hasn't stopped Kim from stuffing herself with fried chicken, waffles, buttermilk biscuits, mashed potatoes, ice cream, macaroni and cheese, cheese-slathered french fries and other high-calorie food, say sources.

When photographers swarmed her at a Mexican restaurant recently, Kim initially drove off. But she returned soon after with a bodyguard and pigged out on fat-loaded chalupas, burritos and chimichangas.

Kim says she's eating for two and will worry about her weight gain after the delivery, revealed a family insider.

But experts, who have not treated the star, warn she cannot afford to wait and that she could suffer from a wide variety of deadly problems in addition to diabetes.

"She could be putting herself at risk for toxemia, a potentially fatal condition characterized by high blood pressure and swelling," leading Los Angeles obstetrician Dr. Arthur Wisot told The ENQUIRER.

"For a single baby, we recommend a weight gain of between 25 and 30 pounds. At the rate she's gaining, I'm afraid her next reality show may be 'The Biggest Loser!'"

And that's not all! Excessive weight gain can also cause delivery complications, says nutritionist Tara Gidus, TV's "Diet Diva" and author of "Pregnancy Cooking & Nutrition for Dummies."

"Extra weight gain increases the risk of needing a Caesarean section, and it is more difficult to take the weight off after delivery."

Kanye has reportedly begged Kim to rein in her appetite. But his pleas have apparently fallen on deaf ears, even though friends say he's also turned off by her preposterous poundage.

"Kim's family is hoping and praying she gives birth to a healthy baby," said the insider, "and that there are no medical problems because of her excessive eating."

'JURASSIC' KIDS TODAY

As hit movie's re-released, what happened to its young stars?

Ariana Richards and Joseph Mazzello flank Sam Neill in "Jurassic Park"

As the "Jurassic Park" dinosaurs rampage across the screen again in a spectacular new 3D release of the classic sci-fi flick – its two child stars are all grown up and enjoying successful, if not monster, careers!

Twenty years ago, Ariana Richards (Lex Murphy) and Joseph Mazzello (Tim Murphy) barely escaped being munched by a Tyrannosaurus Rex in the Steven Spielberg blockbuster, and they're still dodging pitfalls in the Hollywood jungle.

CALIFORNIA-BRED ARIANA, 33, MOST recently starred in the original Syfy Channel werewolf movie, "Battledogs," which premiered on April 6. An actress since age 7, Ariana has appeared in 11 movies, including "The Lost World: Jurassic Park" in 1997.

But her true love is art. The talented painter, a descendent of boxing legend

John L. Sullivan, sells her award-winning landscapes, seascapes and portraits out of her own gallery in Oregon.

"Sometimes I'm on the pulse of what's happening in Hollywood, but other times I'm just totally absorbed by what I'm creating on the easel," says Ariana, who recently married Irishman Mark Bolton.

Meanwhile, her screen brother Mazzello enjoyed a normal family life while growing up in Hyde Park, N.Y. Now 29, he plays the character Mouse in the hit action flick "G.I. Joe: Retaliation" with Bruce Willis and Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson.

"He's been working steadily for the past three years, ever since he did the HBO miniseries 'The Pacific,'" Joseph's mom Virginia Mazzello told The ENQUIRER.

"He's single, dating some girlfriends, and is a pretty happy guy."

AFTER Angelina Jolie collapsed during a mission to war-torn Africa, a shaken Brad Pitt told the rail-thin beauty that her humanitarian work could kill her!

The 37-year-old skeletal superstar was recently investigating the plight of raped and injured women in the Democratic Republic of the Congo when she crumbled in a heap on a bathroom floor.

A PHYSICIAN GAVE HER emergency treatment, and she kept the frightening incident secret until she made it safely back to Los Angeles. But once she confessed what had happened to Brad, he hit the roof, revealed an insider.

"Brad warned her, 'You've got to slow down. You're killing yourself,'" said the insider. "And he reminded her that her own kids need her around, and that he doesn't want them growing up motherless."

"He said Angie is juggling a busy career while also attempting to save the Third World – and it's a mission impossible."

As a UN special envoy and ambassador of good will, the bighearted actress has been working long hours in mosquito-infested, strife-ridden areas, often under extremely dangerous conditions.

At the same time, said the insider: "She eats like a bird and rarely touches meat. Brad and her close friends have tried to persuade her that she must take better care of herself."

The grueling hours and terrible working conditions all came to a head for the mother of six while she was in the Congo to visit with thousands of war victims.

"Angelina was so pathetically thin and pale that some of the refugees looked to be in better shape," an African source told The ENQUIRER.

"At one point I saw an assistant put out a protective arm because he feared she would pass out. She wasn't wearing makeup and looked gaunt. Those refugees must have been shocked at the sight of such a famous Hollywood star."

"She was far from the glamorous beauty they expected."

Angelina was flown by helicopter from the unbearably humid, unsanitary refugee camp to a staging area for a meeting with Congolese officials – but she was soon found slumped on the floor of the restroom.

A guard raised the alarm and help was summoned, said the source.

Angelina recovered quickly after a medic gave her an IV of fluids to relieve her dehydration, but she refused to go to a hospital for a more detailed exam.

Astonishingly, the determined actress managed to gather enough strength to spend several more days on her mission before returning home.

"She was skeletal," said the source. "Her cheeks were hollow and she looked in need of a rest. She looks like she may be as low as 93 pounds."

Despite the personal hardships, Angelina promises to continue spreading her vital message: "We will no longer stand for rape and violence against women."

GLEE" hunk Cory Monteith has announced that he has entered into rehab for the second time! His first was when he was 19.

The 30-year-old, who plays football hunk Finn Hudson on the hit TV musical, also has a criminal record for stealing money for drugs from family members when he was a teen. Meanwhile, the Canadian actor's girlfriend and "Glee" co-star Lea Michele, 26, has managed to stay out of trouble – with the exception of a racy "GQ" photo shoot in 2010 – but she offered public support for her beau's decision to seek help.

Cory isn't the only cast member of "Glee" who has a checkered past. Although the stars appear to be young, beautiful, and successful beyond their wildest dreams, the former students of William McKinley High School aren't as squeaky clean as they look!

"THEY ALL STARTED OUT WIDE-EYED" and innocent for the most part, but once fame hit, certain actors' egos blew up," said a show insider. "The crew doesn't know what to expect from day to day anymore – things have gotten out of control."

Here's a look at some of the other cast members who've had their troubles through the years:

Heather Morris, 26, a former Beyoncé backup dancer who plays cheerleader Brittany S. Pierce, is reportedly pregnant by longtime boyfriend Taylor Hubbell, and no wedding plans have been announced. Morris was also caught up in a nude photo scandal in 2012 after her cell phone was reportedly hacked and topless photos were leaked online.

Resident "Glee" bad boy Mark Salling, 30, was slapped with a vicious sexual battery lawsuit in January in which ex-girlfriend Roxanne Gorzela claims he forced her to have sex with him without a condom in March 2011. In the lawsuit, filed by Gorzela's attorney, she called Salling's behavior "willful, malicious and despicable," adding that it caused her "severe and substantial mental and emotional distress, humiliation, fear, apprehension, anxiety and anguish."

The actor's rep claimed Gorzela was just "looking to cash in" on Mark's success.

Salling's ex-girlfriend Naya Rivera, 26, a former Hooters waitress who plays bi-curious cheerleader Santana Lopez, was accused of throwing eggs and dog food at Salling's Lexus and "keyed" it in a jealous rage after discovering he was hooking up with other women in 2010. Naya never confirmed nor denied the report.

Dianna Agron, 26, who plays popular Queen Bee cheerleader-turned-pregnant-teen Quinn Fabray, was also the focus of some serious drama after her "I Am Number Four" co-star and ex-boyfriend, 22-year-old Alex Pettyfer, got booted from a West Hollywood nightclub in February 2011. Alex blew up, accusing Dianna of hooking up with "Black Swan" actor Sebastian Stan. Dianna packed her bags and moved out of the L.A.-area home they shared just a few days later.

"Glee" is in its fourth season. Their fifth season is currently being negotiated – if rehab and pregnancies don't get in the way.

Amy separated from her husband Will Arnett in September, and she became close with Nick, 34, after he landed a recurring role on her NBC sitcom playing a radio shock-jock.

"But, to Amy, Nick's anything but insensitive. He's been a rock of support during her split from Will, and he's made her laugh when she could really use cheering up."

enjoying the conversation very much and laughed a lot."

The former "SNL" star ditched her 42-year-old hubby after nine years of marriage. But as The ENQUIRER has reported, he's desperate to reconcile with her.

"Will still loves Amy deeply, and he's doing everything in his power to get back in her good graces," an insider revealed to The ENQUIRER.

"He told a pal, 'It's not over till it's over! We're still crazy about one another. At least, I'm still crazy about her.'

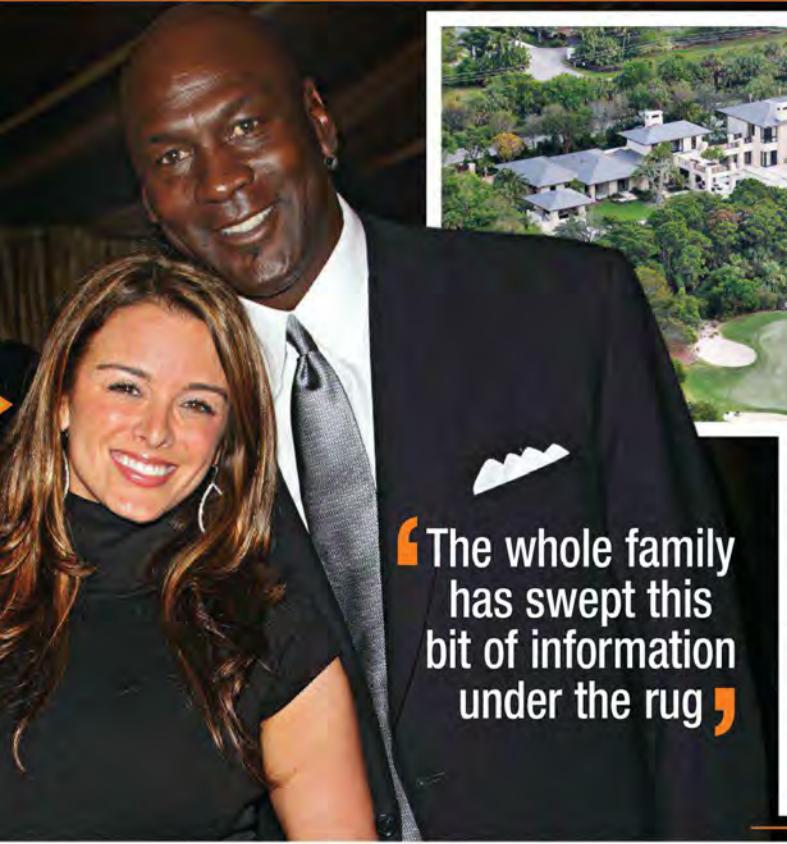

Since the breakup, "Arrested Development" star Will has grown especially close to the couple's sons, Archie, 4, and Abel, 2. But now Amy appears ready to move on with Nick.

"The irony is that on 'Parks and Rec,' Amy and Nick don't get along," said the source.

"But off the set, it's just the opposite. A spring romance seems to be in bloom!"

nies, three medical companies, a medical billing company, a management company and an unlicensed physician placed in a busy Miami clinic.

Department of Insurance fraud investigators said the group billed insurance companies at least $1 million for heart-monitoring services never rendered, collecting more than $410,000 in payments since March 1998. Most of the proceeds, according to the investigators, were funneled to Maria Prieto, who operated Pacificare Case Management, Inc., from her Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., home.

Maria and Carlos were both eventually convicted on several felony counts in 2005 and served 18 months in state prison.

"This all happened before Michael met Yvette, so the whole family has just swept this bit of information under the rug," the friend continued. "I hope Michael protects his money because her parents are very sneaky."

AS THE ENQUIRER PREVIOUSLY reported, Michael, 50, made sure Yvette, 35, signed an airtight prenup before he agreed to walk down the aisle.

And it appears that the retired athlete gets along just fine with his soon-to-be kin. Not only has he purchased a stunning mansion for himself and his bride in Jupiter, Fla., he's also bought his new in-laws a home!

"Die Hard"

GETTING older isn't easy, even for a blockbuster action hero like Bruce Willis.

Insiders say the 58-year-old "Die Hard" star now needs more than eight hours of sleep at night and can no longer do his own film stunts. He's even admitted to pals: "I'm half the man I used to be."

His upcoming summer flick, "Red 2," uses computerized simulation to perform action sequences that "would have been a breeze for Bruce six or seven years ago," revealed a source. "He's definitely slowing down, and has admitted that his schedule over the past year has been horrible for his health and mood. He needs a break."

But the source says he had a change of heart last year after his wife, Emma, 36, gave birth to their daughter, Mabel.

"He's all about quality of life now," the source added. "He's promised Emma he'll slow things down so he can focus more on family – and that's exactly what he's doing."

DEMI'S TURNING INTO A RECLUSE

Beauty shutting herself away from friends

LONELY Demi Moore has become a virtual recluse after cutting ties with those closest to her – including her therapist – and pals fear she's teetering on the edge of another meltdown.

The 50-year-old actress, who was recently spotted out on the streets of Los Angeles with unshaven legs and disheveled hair, has told friends who've tried to help her: "I'm tired of bothering people with my problems."

DEMI'S RECENT ERRATIC BEHAVIOR IS "ALMOST IDENTICAL" in nature to how she was acting right before her mental breakdown in January 2012, when she was rushed to the hospital and later reportedly checked into rehab, says a close source.

"It's incredibly worrying for everyone around her," added the source. "She's now refusing to take calls from some of her oldest friends, and everyone's really concerned about her."

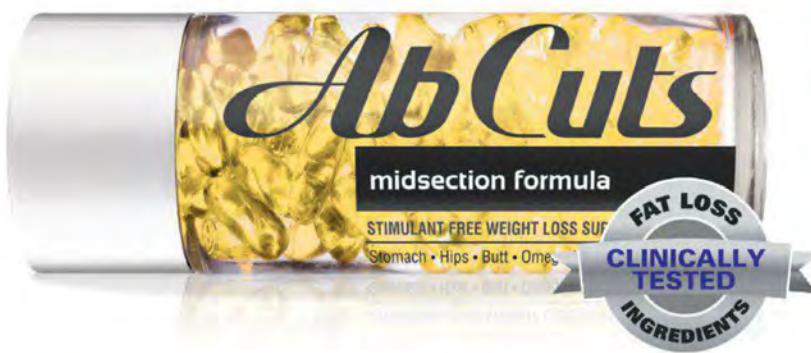

The actress has people worried, says a source

COUNTRY cutie Kellie Pickler is so crazy about her "Dancing with the Stars" partner Derek Hough that pals say she's forgetting she's a married woman!

The on-screen chemistry between the toothy blonde twosome continues even after the cameras stop rolling, say sources.

"Kellie and Derek spend a lot of time together outside the dance studio," a friend revealed. "They go to spas, head out shopping and grab dinner together in L.A."

"They're like two peas in a pod, and Kellie admits she has a crush on him."

MEANWHILE, HER husband Kyle Jacobs, a 39-year-old songwriter who co-wrote Garth Brook's No. 1 hit "More Than a Memory," is back home in Nashville, Tenn.

"Friends have warned Kellie that she's getting too close to Derek, but she says there's nothing wrong with a flirty relationship just for fun," disclosed the source.

"It's like a fantasy to her. She says, 'Oh, Kyle knows I'm coming home after all this is over.'

But with the "Red High Heels" singer as the front-runner to take home "Dancing's" mirror ball trophy, her hubby may have a long wait.

Judges gave Kellie, 26, and Derek the night's highest score for their "Footloose" jive dance on "prom night" during the April 1 airing, and afterward Kellie cooed to Derek: "Thank you for being such a great date."

But schmoozing with the stars is nothing new for Derek, who dated his Season 6 partner, "American Pie" hottie Shannon Elizabeth.

"Derek figured out long ago that having genuine chemistry with his partner is what both the viewers and judges want to see," said the source.

Still, the 27-year-old pro has no intention of being a home-wrecker.

"I think Derek sees competing on 'Dancing' as a little romance that has a beginning, middle and end," the friend explained.

"He certainly doesn't want to take up with a married lady."

MARRIED KELLIE'S HOT FOR HOUGH

Pickler's smitten WITH HUNKY 'DWTS' PARTNER

FROM the time LeAnn Rimes was just a tiny tot, it was clear to those who knew her that she was destined to become a star.

That includes her former dance instructor Shannon Hensley, who met LeAnn at her studio, the Center Stage School of Performing Arts in Ridgeland, Miss., when the future chart-topper was just 3 years old.

SHE SHARES THESE never-before-seen childhood photos of a little LeAnn exclusively with The ENQUIRER.

"LeAnn and her mom, Belinda, came into my studio in 1986 because her mother had promised her she could start taking dance lessons when she turned 3," Shannon recalled.

"It was three weeks until our spring dance recital, so I told Belinda her daughter could stand for the recital, LeAnn was not only in it, she was front and center and leading the entire group!

"LeAnn was extremely bright, but a very shy little girl. Still, she was much more focused than your average 3-year-old, and from the very beginning she was telling us she was going to be a star. And this was before we even knew she could sing!"

LEANN STUDIED SINGING, TAP, ballet and tumbling at the studio, but left when she was 7 when her family moved to Garland, Texas. Her career exploded just a few years later when she recorded the song "Blue," which had originally been written for Patsy Cline. The song launched LeAnn into country music superstardom at age 13.

Now 30, she's won two Grammys, 12 Billboard Music Awards and multiple country music industry awards.

"We stayed in touch for many years and were thrilled to see her become such a major success," added Shannon. "LeAnn is a sweetheart and I wish her the best."

SHOULD WE BATHE OUR CAT REGULARLY?

Q. Help us settle an argument – do cats need regular baths?

A. The simple answer is no. Cats do not need regular baths. Exceptions include getting really dirty by rolling in something nasty, being spilled on or sprayed, or getting something on their coat they should not ingest. Some skin diseases may require bathing with a therapeutic shampoo. Brushing is another matter, especially with longhaired cats. They require regular brushing to prevent matting and ingestion of large amounts of hair due to self-grooming. If brushing is impossible because of time constraints or the cat's disposition, it may be wise to have a groomer shave the cat once or twice a year. While we're talking about grooming, don't forget the cat's nails. Even with a scratching post handy, regular trimming may be necessary for the cat's comfort, and it may also save some wear and tear on carpets and furniture.

Ask the Vet

WITH DR. JEFF LACROIX

Owning a pet can be a rewarding – but often puzzling – experience. ENQUIRER columnist, top veterinarian Dr. Jeff LaCroix, answers the toughest questions about your four-legged friends.

HOW DO WE DEAL WITH OUR DOG'S RECURRENT EAR INFECTIONS?

Q. Our golden retriever, Jake, has been bothered by recurrent ear infections, especially during the hot summer months. He always responds to topical treatments, but the infection never really seems to go away entirely. Do you have any suggestions?

A. When a major pet insurance company examined their database, they found that ear infections were No. 1 on the list of canine health problems. Most ear infections occur when normal defense mechanisms are breached, and bacteria and yeast that is always present in the ear canal cause infection. There are a large variety of conditions that can predispose an animal to having ear infections. For instance, any type of dog with floppy ears has a greater chance of having this problem because the ear flap acts like a trap door, keeping in heat and moisture, which can promote the growth of microorganisms. Many water-loving dogs, such as your golden retriever, are also prone to getting swimmer's ear, just like humans. In Jake's case, it would be helpful to take him to the vet to get a culture of his ear in order to identify the specific microorganism involved. Any bacteria that is found should be treated with an appropriate antibiotic. If yeast is the culprit, it's likely due to an allergy.

Send your pet questions to Ask the Vet, The National ENQUIRER, 1000 American Media Way, Boca Raton, FL 33464 or e-mail askthevet@nationalenquirer.com.

ENQUIRER WORLD EXCLUSIVE

Michael Jackson WA

This coroner's photo of the King of Pop's body was shown during the trial of Conrad Murray

■ STUNNING SECRET his kids have been hiding

'Hulk' ready to testify

BODYBUILDER-turned-actor Lou Ferrigno helped get Michael Jackson in shape for his ill-fated 2009 comeback tour – and says he'd testify in the Jackson family's wrongful death lawsuit.

"I haven't communicated with Michael's family since he died, but I would tell the truth in court if I was called," Ferrigno told The ENQUIRER in an exclusive interview. Famous as TV's "The Incredible Hulk," Ferrigno was Michael's personal trainer in the early 1990s, and again before the superstar singer's scheduled "This Is It" tour.

"We wanted to increase Michael's flexibility and stamina for the tour," said Ferrigno, 61. "We worked on cardio, light weights, exercises and stretching several times a week. Being 50, Michael's body went through a lot of stress getting ready for the tour, but he always had positive energy and always worked hard when I trained him. Michael was really getting fit and was almost ready to perform. I worked with him two weeks before his death. He was on a balanced diet and had a lot to live for."

Since Michael's death, Ferrigno – who hosts the popular websites louferrigno.com and ferrignofitness.com – has publicly stated that he noticed no changes in Michael's physical condition, although the singer admitted that he had trouble sleeping and suffered from chronic back pain. "I was at an event in Pittsburgh when I got the news that Michael had died," recalled Ferrigno, who's set to launch the website ferrignofit.com, which will offer customized 12-week online training programs. "It was such a shock that at first I thought it was a bad joke. I'm still devastated. Michael and I had a lot of fun together. It's still hard for me to believe that he's gone."

by BARRY LEVINE blevine@nationalenquirer.com

Lou Ferrigno

SINCE his death, Michael Jackson's children have been hiding a secret murder bombshell that is now set to explode in court, say sources.

In a stunning world exclusive, close family sources tell The ENQUIRER that sensational testimony from Prince, 16, Paris, 15, or Blanket, 11, could convince a jury to award Michael's heirs a whopping $40 billion in the wrongful death lawsuit they've filed against concert promoter AEG Live.

In the weeks before his drug-related death on June 25, 2009, sources say 50-year-old Michael repeatedly warned his children to stay away from the "devils" of AEG.

"IN MULTIPLE PRIVATE CONVERSATIONS WITH HIS kids, Michael secretly confessed that he feared for his life," one of the close sources told The ENQUIRER on the eve of the civil court trial. "Michael even used the words, 'People are trying to kill me.' Another time he emotionally told them, 'I'm worth more dead than alive to them.'

"Michael's children have been hiding this shocking murder secret ever since, and it's clear they could throw this trial into chaos with their testimony!"

In the lawsuit, Michael's three children, led by their

JACKSONS MURDERED!

New witness comes forward with BOMBSHELL EVIDENCE legal guardian, Jackson's mother Katherine, accuses AEG of "negligence and breach of contract" in hiring and supervising Dr. Conrad Murray, who's been convicted of involuntary manslaughter in Jackson's death. The suit claims AEG put "its desire from the tour over the health and safety of Michael Jackson," and seeks damages related to Michael's potential earnings if he'd lived.

While the loss of earnings is projected at $1 billion to $5 billion, the damages have been calculated at a whopping $40 billion!

AEG denies the accusations and contends Dr. Murray was hired by Michael himself. As a result, AEG says it had no responsibility for Dr. Murray's treatment of the singer.

Chillingly, the King of Pop has seemed to point a finger at AEG from beyond the grave — with his children claiming he repeatedly warned them about AEG staffers, said another Jackson family insider.

"Prince and Paris told their attorneys they remember their father telling them to be careful of 'those

"Michael called the AEG guys

'devils.' When they came over, Michael made sure the nanny kept the children occupied in another part of the house. Michael also told the children that the only thing those men cared about was money, and they'd do anything for it."

In yet another bombshell, The ENQUIRER has learned that secret surveillance reveals explosive new evidence of disturbing goings-on at Jacksons' rented mansion in Holmby Hills, Calif.

"There was a lot of suspicious activity," top Hollywood private investigator Dan "Danno" Hanks, who secretly had Jackson's house under surveillance in the weeks leading up to his death, told The ENQUIRER.

Michael Jackson WAS MURDERED!

"I saw several cars with out-of-town license plates, including some from Nevada and Texas, coming and going from the home. We were able to confirm that some cars carried Jackson bodyguards. As for others, we just don't know."

With so many unknown individuals at the Jackson residence, it's possible that someone besides Dr. Murray was present on the night Jackson was stricken, said Hanks.

"THE TRIAL COULD EXPLODE IF it's uncovered that Dr. Murray either had a secret accomplice or that another person was present unbeknownst to him," said Hanks, who claims to have been a confidential informant for the DEA and FBI.

"Based on my observations, either scenario is possible due to the number of suspicious people at the house in the days before Michael's death."

Testimony from those individuals could be key at the trial, Hanks added.

POTENTIAL WITNESSES

Quincy Jones

Diana Ross

Sharon Osbourne

Lisa Marie Presley

"One of them may hold the secret to Michael's death," he said.

A line-up of stars are expected to testify, including TV personality Sharon Osbourne, singers Diana Ross and Prince, Jackson's ex-wife Lisa Marie Presley, music producer Quincy Jones and filmmaker Spike Lee.

Meanwhile, Michael's father Joe has also said that he's certain foul play was involved in his son's death. And the star's sister La Toya states flatly: "Michael was murdered. We don't think just one person was involved. Rather, it was a conspiracy of people. I feel it was all about money."

Jason Pfeiffer, who worked for Michael's dermatologist in L.A., recently told a British newspaper:

"The last time I saw Michael, he was saying his goodbyes to everyone in the office. It was like he knew he was never coming back."

With $40 billion at stake, the civil trial will most certainly get ugly, said nationally known New York attorney Peter Gleason, who recently defended "Manhattan Madam" Anna Gristina.

"THERE WILL BE A LOT OF MUD-slinging from both sides," said Gleason, who reviewed the suit for The ENQUIRER. "If Michael's children testify about what their father told them and what they witnessed, it will play to the hearts of the jury, and put AEG on the defensive. The family certainly could make the case that AEG may have wanted harm to come to Michael if they thought the concert tour was going to be a bust.

"But it's conceivable AEG could turn the tables on the family and make outrageous accusations that the family stood to profit the most from Michael's death.

"Like Elvis Presley and Marilyn Monroe, Michael was certainly worth more dead than alive!"

Evidence, such as previously unknown e-mails and texts between AEG executives and others could also become public, he said, adding: "This has the makings of an O.J. Simpson-like trial with bombshell secrets and dubious murder-plot scenarios playing out!"

Conrad Murray's shameful silence

DR. CONRAD MURRAY doesn't want to help Michael Jackson's children win their wrongful death lawsuit because he's more interested in helping himself! The jailed cardiologist is so desperate to clear his name and regain his medical license that he's refused to answer a subpoena to testify in the $40 billion civil trial. He's afraid that if he testifies in court he'll incriminate himself and thus jeopardize his chances of winning an appeal of his involuntary manslaughter conviction in Jackson's death, sources say. Dr. Murray is appealing the verdict, claiming that the judge was wrong in preventing his defense team from arguing that Jackson was going through withdrawal from a Demerol addiction the day he died, and it could have affected the outcome of the trial. But, as The ENQUIRER reported in July 2009, Jackson's drug addiction was so out of control that he had ingested "10,000 pills in six months." We also named Demerol as one of the prime painkillers he was hooked on! During a series of recent interviews on CNN, Dr. Murray, 60, admitted to ordering the anesthetic Propofol for Jackson but insisted he did not bring the drug into the musician's home. In a bizarre twist, Dr. Murray told a stunned Anderson Cooper: "You know what describes me? Let me sing something for you," and suddenly burst into the Nat King Cole tune "The Little Boy that Santa Claus Forgot."

TERRY MIRACLE was minding his own business, tending to his garden at his home in Longview, Wash., last month when a suspected burglar being chased by cops dashed through his yard.

At 82, it would have been understandable if Terry had ducked for cover or simply watched the drama unfold – but he isn't your average octogenarian!

Recalling a move from his high school football days, Terry took down the creep with a cross-body block.

"People can't believe I did that, but I did. I got him real good," the plucky pensioner told The ENQUIRER with a chuckle.

On Feb. 8, Terry – a retired high school teacher, Korean War veteran, widower and great-grandfather – was doing some weeding when he heard a commotion headed his way.

A man wanted for burglary was tearing through the neighborhood with at least a half-dozen cops hot on his heels.

"He came running down the side of my house, looking back over his shoulder," said Terry. "I realized he was the guy the cops were chasing. I wasn't scared. I saw that he wasn't carrying a weapon. I thought, hey, I can bring this guy down!"

MORE THAN 60 YEARS AGO, TERRY PLAYED center on his high school football team.

"During the week we would practice kickoffs, and it was my job to knock down the kicker," he explained. "Kickers are usually the smallest guys on the team. But our kicker was the all-state tackle, and he was 6-foot-3 and 280 pounds. I was 5-foot-11 and 160 pounds. But after three years of blocking this same guy, I got pretty good at it."

Terry, who's gained 25 pounds over the years and works out at the gym six days a week, decided to try the cross-body block he'd perfected in his teens to stop the suspect. His timing was a bit off after all those years, but he used an old trick to bring down the fleeing man.

"As I went flying across him, I lifted up my leg in the hopes of tripping him," said Terry. "And it worked. He went tumbling over backward."

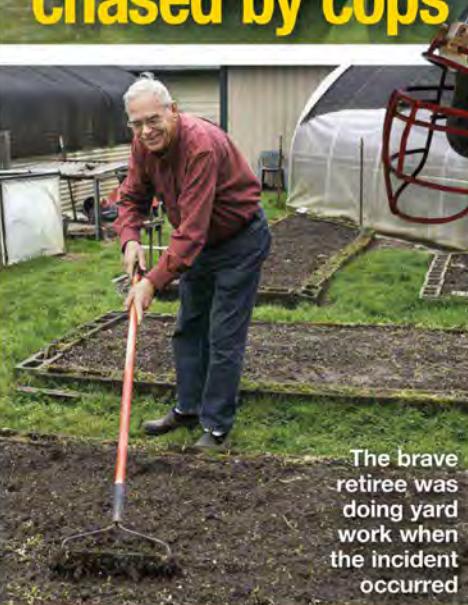

Cops arrived a few moments later, and within

A Life Without 'Belly Fat'

How One Woman Overcomes Tragedy and Creates the Life She's Always Wanted – By Tiffany Strobel

Mindy DeForest's wake-up call about her weight problem was heartbreaking and profound: her sister died of colon cancer. "My sister was overweight, and I knew that being overweight myself put me more at risk for all sorts of health issues," she says. "I knew something had to change."

At 208 pounds, Mindy was the heaviest she'd ever been. Even having children hadn't caused her to gain so much weight, but the stress of caring for and eventually losing her sister, as well as being in an unhappy marriage, had caused her weight to balloon. "I'm a total stress eater," she says. "I kept turning to food for emotional reasons, and I was really putting on weight."

Like most people, Mindy had tried dieting in the past. Over the course of ten years she tried Weight Watchers, Body for Life, ephedra... pretty much everything. But unfortunately, nothing was working for her.

Mindy decided to try losing weight one more time, so she began working with a personal trainer. It didn't take long before her trainer realized that a big part of her weight-gain issues revolved around stress eating, so he recommended she try a product called Relacore.

"He told me it was a 'belly fat' pill that could help me feel less stressed, give me energy, and improve my mood," Mindy says. She admits she was pessimistic after having tried so many products that hadn't worked in the past, but says, "My trainer really believed in it, so I agreed to give it a try."

It didn't take long before Mindy was convinced of Relacore's effectiveness. "I really noticed a difference in my mood. I was in the process of getting divorced and was worried I'd suffer from depression, but Relacore made a huge difference for me. I never felt down. I stopped my 'nervous' eating. And I could really tell from my mood when I missed a day, so I knew it was doing something for me."

Before long, the inches started dropping off, and Mindy's entire life began to change. "My self-esteem went through the roof. I started getting job offers, and I felt like for the first time in years, people were paying attention to me. When I was overweight it was like I just blended into the background, but then I started getting thin until her trainer recommended a second product: Zantrex®-3 High Energy Fat Burner. "He told me it could help me get past my plateau and start losing again," Mindy says, "and I'd had so much success with Relacore that I didn't hesitate to try it."

Mindy added Zantrex to her Relacore/diet and exercise regimen, and it gave her the extra boost she needed to blow through her plateau and start dropping even more weight.

"With help from Relacore and Zantrex, I've lost 55 pounds, and I'm still going. I haven't been this thin since my twenties. I just bought a new skirt, and when I was trying it on it felt so amazing to keep telling the store clerk to bring me a smaller size. I ended up buying a size 2. It was awesome. I couldn't believe it."

But for Mindy, the greatest accomplishment isn't being able to fit into a size 2. "It's knowing that I really had the power to change my life. When I was overweight, I was miserable. But now everyone around me can see the difference losing weight has made not just in my physical appearance, but in everything. I have energy, I'm positive, I'm outgoing. My whole outlook on life has changed. I'm just so happy."

Tiffany Strobel is an author, columnist, and beauty editor of MyFreeDiet.com

Heard about "Combo-Pilling"?

The highly controversial practice of Combo-Pilling is truly an underground phenomenon. Odds are, if you know someone who's losing lots of weight, and losing it fast, you probably know someone who's Combo-Pilling... like Mindy D. Why? Because it allows people to attack multiple facets of weight loss – like dropping fat, overcoming stress eating, and having enough energy to work out – all at the same time. According to the Internet, the most popular Combo-Pilling duo is Zantrex and Relacore. You can find them both at Wal-Mart, Walgreens, Rite-Aid, CVS, and GNC, or order them separately from Zantrex-3 at Zantrex3.com (1-800-519-8206) Relacore at Relacore.com (1-800-377-7811) or at TryComboPilling.com.

Alan Thicke CONTRACT KILLING HORROR

ACCUSED

ENQUIRER EXCLUSIVE

'Growing Pains' dad stunned as mom-in-law faces murder charges

In a stunning turn of events, former "Growing Pains" star Alan Thicke has been rocked by a brutal kidnapping and murder plot!

The 66-year-old actor was said to be floored when he learned that his mother-in-law has been accused of orchestrating the gruesome slaughter of her wealthy husband near Santa Cruz, Bolivia.

"Alan is shocked by the news and deeply troubled by what may have happened," said an insider.

"Right now, he doesn't know what to think. He's just waiting for the local authorities to complete their investigation."

MIRIAM CALLAU, THE MOM OF THICKE'S THIRD WIFE

Tanya Callau, has been charged as the mastermind behind the March 28 disappearance of her Dutch husband Petrus Jacobus Gerardus Dekker, Tanya's stepfather, from their $3 million, 1,400-acre cattle ranch in the South American country.

Dekker's decomposing body was discovered more than a week later in a field about 1,100 yards from the home the couple had shared. He was shot four times – twice in the chest and two times in the head, according to police reports.

A local worker reportedly confessed to authorities that 64-year-old Miriam, also known as "Chingui," paid him

$4,000 to make her husband "disappear."

He said he contracted two hit men, who bound Dekker's hands and feet with leather lacing, smashed in his head and shot him before dumping his body in a pasture to rot.

An autopsy report says Dekker was killed the same day he disappeared.

In a bizarre twist, the worker claimed Chingui also ordered him to tell the gunmen to slaughter a cow in the field where her husband was left.

"I guess her thinking was that vultures would prefer the cow carcass over her husband – and she hoped that would divert attention from the crime scene," said a source familiar with the investigation.

The worker claims Chingui told him her murder scheme was designed so she could sell the couple's ranch and pocket the proceeds along with Dekker's other assets.

Chingui, who once lived in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., apparently wanted to move back to the U.S.

"They fought bitterly over her desire to return stateside," said a family friend. "Her husband was dead-set on staying put in Bolivia."

In the wake of the murder, Thicke's 38-year-old wife, a stunning ex-model, has decided not to rush to Bolivia.

"It's too stressful for her to see her mother under such conditions," said the friend.

Thicke – who starred as dad Jason Seaver on "Growing Pains" from 1985 to 1992 – is a veteran of marital problems. The dad of three sons, including R&B singer Robin Thicke, was previously wed to Miss World Gina Tolleson and singer/actress Gloria Loring.

Before his marriage to Tanya, the actor joked about his marital history, saying: "I'll be on my third honeymoon, so I'm more of an authority than I care to be."

ASHLEE SIMPSON CUSTODY BATTLE TURNS UGLY

Having her dirty laundry aired in public would be very embarrassing,

WORLD War III has erupted between Ashlee Simpson and ex-husband Pete Wentz over the blonde beauty's hard partying, sources say.

Rocker Pete, 33, believes Ashlee, 28, is spiraling out of control, and he's considering fighting for primary custody of their 4-year-old son, Bronx, the sources add.

It's a dramatic role reversal for the once friendly couple whose nearly three-year marriage ended in 2011 when Ashlee — Jessica Simpson's little sister — filed for divorce over Pete's raging drug habit.

"ASHLEE HAS BEEN DRINKING LIKE a fish, and she's a fixture on the club and house-party scene," said an insider.

Meanwhile, Pete seems to have gotten his life in order. His band, Fall Out Boy, has reunited with a new album coming out and a tour on the docket, and he's settled into a relationship with model Meagan Camper.

But "Pete is at his wit's end over Ashlee," continued the insider. "He's angry that she hasn't been maintaining Bronx's sleeping schedule and that she sometimes uses the TV as his 'babysitter.'"

Wentz wants to hash out a private, new custody arrangement with him as primary caregiver, said the insider.

"But Ashlee is resisting, and it could get ugly. Pete says that if Ashlee doesn't change her partying ways or agree to his custody demands, he'll go to court. And having her dirty laundry aired in public would be very embarrassing for Ashlee."

As The ENQUIRER has reported, the super skinny "Pieces of Me" singer has been stressed out over her parents' divorce as well as her father Joe's alleged admission that he's gay, which he has denied.

She raised fears among her friends and family recently after she was reportedly spotted downing drinks at Pink Taco in Los Angeles. But Ashlee's problems with booze go back to 2005, when she was caught on camera drunk and misbehaving at a Toronto area McDonald's. She was also reportedly guzzling eight to 10 bottles of wine a week after her marriage bustup.

At the time, The ENQUIRER reported that Pete had been taking the sleeping pill Ambien, the sedative Xanax and painkiller OxyContin, and Ashlee had concerns about Bronx's safety when Pete was watching him.

Despite that, Ashlee and Pete patched up their differences, and she even struck up a friendship with his girlfriend, Meagan.

But things deteriorated after Ashlee made plans to move to New York City to live with her now-ex-boyfriend, actor Vincent Piazza of HBO's "Boardwalk Empire," and Pete didn't want to commute from L.A. to see Bronx.

"In the past, it was Ashlee pushing Pete to go to rehab, but now it could be the other way around," said the source. "Pete has been warning Ashlee that if she doesn't pull herself together, he's going to take Bronx away for his own well-being. But Ashlee doesn't seem to be taking his threats seriously."

Hypertension & ALZHEIMER'S

★ Letting your blood pressure get out of control early in life could lead to Alzheimer's disease in your later years.

In a study of nearly 150 subjects, investigators found a link between chronic high blood pressure and a buildup of a brain plaque called amyloid protein, which is believed to be the first symptom of Alzheimer's, according to the University of Texas-Dallas experts.

The good news: Adults whose hypertension was kept under control had lower levels of the damaging plaque buildup.

Estrogen HELPS JOINT PAIN

★ Postmenopausal women suffering joint pain can get relief from hormone therapy, according to a new study based on prior research.

"We found that postmenopausal women who received estrogen-only medication reported significantly lower frequency of joint pain than women who received a placebo," said Dr. Rowan T. Chlebowski of the Los Angeles Biomedical Research Institute.

Women experiencing joint pain after menopause should talk with their doctors about the benefits and risks of taking estrogen.

Lifestyle factors and rheumatoid ARTHRITIS

★ Warning! Certain lifestyle factors and pre-existing conditions – including cigarette smoking and diabetes – could increase your likelihood of developing rheumatoid arthritis.

University of Manchester (UK) researchers compared health and lifestyle information of 184 people who developed RA to those who did not.

Among the key findings: Smoking, obesity and diabetes were all linked to a higher risk of this chronic joint disease. On the other hand, drinking a small amount of alcohol was associated with a lower risk for developing the disease.

Knee surgery vs. PHYSICAL THERAPY

★ People suffering from a common knee injury known as a meniscus tear might want to delay surgery until after receiving physical therapy – which can be just as effective.

Scientists at Boston's Brigham and Women's Hospital studied 351 patients older than 45 with knee pain, meniscal tears and knee osteoarthritis.

They were treated with either physical therapy or arthroscopic surgery.

While one-third of the physical therapy patients eventually had surgery, the remaining two-thirds had improvements similar to those who went under the knife.

"Patients who wish to avoid surgery can be reassured that physical therapy is a reasonable option, although they should recognize that not everyone will improve with physical therapy alone," says Harvard Medical School professor Dr. Jeffrey N. Katz.

Vitamin D PREVENTS DISEASE

★ Good news! Vitamin D supplements can boost your immune system and its ability to fight disease.

In a pioneer study, a small group of adults who were deficient in the vitamin were given a daily D supplement of 2,000 IU for two months. Follow-up testing showed increased function of immune cells, thus lowering their risk for many illnesses.

Although a larger study is needed to confirm results, the initial findings "may help explain the role of vitamin D in reducing the risk for cardiovascular disease, cancer and other diseases," says Dr. Michael F. Holick, professor of medicine, physiology and biophysics at Boston University School of Medicine.

LEN FELDMAN'S BEST BETS ON TV

What's hot
this week

The bounty-hunter couple

Dog and Beth: On the Hunt (New Show!)

Sunday, April 21, 8 p.m. ET, CMT

Get ready for more action, drama and danger as Dog the Bounty Hunter and his wife Beth's new series blasts its way onto CMT tonight. This time, Dog, Beth and their son Leland travel across America helping bail bonds companies in trouble – almost like the way Gordon Ramsay gets restaurants back on track, but with guns and warrants instead of cooking utensils and menus. Tonight, the Chapmans take charge of the fledgling Denver-based Bail City Bail Bonds, which is about to lose a $50,000 bond on a deadly rapist on the run. But Dog teaches them a few new tricks in the adrenaline-pumping season opener.

Remember Sunday (Hallmark Hall of Fame TV Movie Premiere)

Sunday, April 21, 9 p.m. ET, ABC

Remember the touching movie "50 First Dates," in which Drew Barrymore forgets everything that happened the day before? Well, this similarly themed love story is more heart-wrenching as lonely waitress Molly (Alexis Bledel) meets good-looking jewelry store clerk Gus (Zachary Levi) and thinks he's the guy for her. But Gus once suffered a brain aneurysm and has lost his short-term memory, meaning he doesn't remember Molly when he wakes up in the morning. But something about Molly makes Gus fall in love with her all over again every day. If only he could remember her tomorrow. Levi's and Bledel's heartfelt performances make this absent-minded romance a memorable one.

The Borgias

Sunday, April 21, 10 p.m. ET, Showtime

Tonight, Pope Alexander (Jeremy Irons), having recovered from being poisoned, lashes out at his enemies. Instigating an inquisition of all the cardinals to discover who killed his son, he banishes all those he does not trust, not expecting to have to kill one of them personally. Meanwhile, Lucrezia (Holliday Grainger) seduces her brother Cesare (Francois Arnaud) when her father, Alexander, seemingly loses his "vigor." Loaded with treachery, incest, adultery, murder, conspiracy and betrayal, "The Borgias" is one of the greatest crime family stories ever put on film – even if it is set in 14th century Rome.

Vegas

Friday, April 26, 9 p.m. ET, CBS

Tonight on this rootin' tootin' cowboys and gangsters series set in the golden age of Las Vegas, Sheriff Lamb (Dennis Quaid) and Jack (Jason O'Mara) investigate the murder of a Savoy craps dealer found dead in his backyard pool. And a desperate suspect in the case takes Mia (Sarah Jones) hostage at gunpoint, demanding a ransom for his getaway. Meanwhile, Savino (Michael Chiklis) is forced to play dirty in order to skim off some of the profits from the newly reopened Tumbleweed Club in this all-new episode.

FIRST, "Dallas" and "Hawaii Five-O" – now "Ironside"! "L.A. Law" star Blair Underwood has settled into the wheelchair occupied by legendary actor Raymond Burr in the classic '60s detective series "Ironside" – but the reboot ain't your daddy's show!

One big difference is that the updated version includes flashbacks showing the new Ironside before he was crippled.

"You'll see him running and jumping before the accident," revealed Underwood, 48. In fact, Underwood says the new Detective Robert T. Ironside is more similar to Hugh Laurie's maverick doctor on TV's "House M.D."

"Because he's in a wheelchair, the last thing he is is politically correct," explained the actor. "He knows he can say and do stuff to people, and they won't hit back."

"He's tough, he's in peoples' faces, always playing by his own rules – always flirting with the women and making love still!"

UNDERWOOD ALSO REVEALED that his mother has been wheelchair-bound for the last 10 years, giving him a unique point of view on his character.

"It gives a chance to see inside that disability and see what life is like from that perspective," he said.

The original series aired on NBC from 1967 to 1975 and followed Detective Ironside as he battled bad guys in San Francisco. The new show, also on NBC, moves the action to the Big Apple.

But the gutsy TV cop, who is confined to a wheelchair after being shot by a sniper, will again be joined by a team of whip-smart detectives.

"Greek" alumna Spencer Grammer, 29, daughter of "Frasier" star Kelsey Grammer, plays his sassy sidekick. Pablo Schreiber, 34, the younger half brother of "X-Men" actor Liev Schreiber, also co-stars.

Emmy-nominated screenwriter Michael Caleo of HBO's "The Sopranos" penned the script for the reboot's pilot, which will be directed by "thirtysomething" actor-turned-producer/director Peter Horton.

"In TV land it seems like everything old is new again, but of all the remakes that have tried and failed, I'm excited for this reboot," syndicated TV columnist Bill Mann told The ENQUIRER.

IRONSIDE'S BACK – AND HE AIN'T NO RAYMOND BURR!

Blair Underwood turns wheelchair-bound cop into skirt-chasing rebel

The cast of the original "Ironside"

The actor says his disabled character is tough and not politically correct

"This series has the potential to be a surefire hit with a new generation of audiences, and the high-tech special effects will breathe new life into the classic series."

Mann is also confident that Underwood can fill the shoes of the original Ironside – Canadian-born Burr, who won two Emmys playing the defense attorney title role on TV's "Perry Mason." Burr died of liver cancer at age 76 in 1993.

"Burr earned six Emmys and two Golden Globe nominations for 'Ironside,' so Blair has some big 'wheels' to fill," Mann said. "But this could be the breakthrough role he seems to have been looking for forever."

TO ALL PERSONS IN THE UNITED STATES WHO PURCHASED QUICKTRIM PRODUCTS FOR WEIGHT LOSS BETWEEN AUGUST 14, 2009 AND MARCH 1, 2013

This Is Not An Advertisement Or Attorney Solicitation.

Read This Notice Carefully. A Class Action Lawsuit May Affect Your Rights.

A settlement has been preliminary approved by the Superior Court of the State of California for the County of San Bernardino of a class action lawsuit relating to the QuickTrim Weight Loss System® and its component products: QuickTrim Sugar & Carb Cheater®, QuickTrim Fast Cleanse®, QuickTrim Extreme Burn®, QuickTrim Burn & Cleanse®, QuickTrim Hot Stix®, QuickTrim Fast Shake®, QuickTrim Satisfy®, and QuickTrim Celluslim® (together, the "Products").

This notice is only a summary. A detailed notice of your rights is available at www.anayasupplementsettlement.com, or by writing to or calling the Settlement Administrator at the address or toll-free number below.

The Litigation. The Plaintiff challenges as improper certain weight loss claims made by Quicktrim in its packaging, labeling and marketing for the Products. Quicktrim vigorously denies these allegations and denies any claims of wrongdoing. The Court has not ruled on the merits of Plaintiff's claims or Quicktrim's defenses.

Who Is Included In The Settlement? The Settlement Class includes all persons in the United States who purchased QuickTrim Weight Loss System® or any of its component products between August 14, 2009 and March 1, 2013 ("the Class Period").

The Settlement. Quicktrim and its related Defendants have agreed to provide the following benefits to the Settlement Class:

Group A-1 Class Members: Each Settlement Class Member who purchased a Quicktrim Product directly from Quicktrim will automatically receive 50% compensation of the Purchase Price of the Products unless they elect to receive a coupon to be redeemed at a retailer for Products with a retailed value of twice the purchase price of the Product(s). If you decide that you want to receive a coupon instead of receiving an automatic compensation, you must submit a claim form.

Group A-2 Class Members: Each Settlement Class Member who purchased a Quicktrim Product from a retailer and who provides copies of a valid receipt, cancelled check or credit card statement showing that they purchased a Quicktrim Product will choose either: (a) compensation of fifty percent (50%) of the purchase price of the Quicktrim Product(s) purchased or (b) a coupon which can be redeemed at a retailer for the Quicktrim Product(s) with a retail value equal to the full purchase price of the Quicktrim Products.

Group B Class Members: Each Settlement Class Member who does not have a valid receipt, cancelled check or credit card statement showing that they purchased a Quicktrim Product, but who provides a Certification by way of the Claim Form, via U.S. mail or through the Settlement website, affirming that they purchased a Quicktrim Product, will choose either: (a) compensation in the amount of 25% of the purchase price of the Quicktrim Product(s) purchased (up to two (2) products) or (b) a coupon which can be redeemed at a retailer for the Quicktrim Product(s) with a retail value not to exceed Thirty-Five Percent (35%) of the Purchase Price of the Products up to the amount of 2 Products not to exceed the combined retail value of $42.00 purchased during the Class Period.

How Do I Make A Claim? Claim Forms are available at www.anayasupplementsettlement.com or by calling 1-866-328-1994. Unless you are a direct purchaser from Quicktrim (Group A-1) and have decided that you want to receive the automatic compensation instead of the coupon, you must complete a claim and have it postmarked no later than August 5, 2013 or submit a claim online at www.anayasupplementsettlement.com no later than 11:59 p.m. EST on August 5, 2013 in order to receive a possible settlement payment.

Other Options. If you do not want to be legally bound by the settlement (and receive no money from the settlement), your request for exclusion must be mailed to the Settlement Administrator at the address below and postmarked no later than July 25, 2013. If you stay in the settlement, you may also submit an objection to it by July 25, 2013. You may access the detailed notice at www.anayasupplementsettlement.com. If the settlement is approved, all Class Members who do not exclude themselves will be bound by any judgment entered and will give up any right to sue Defendants or related parties for any known or unknown claims relating to the Products' manufacture, formulation, sale, pricing, marketing, labeling, promotion or distribution.

The Court will hold a hearing in this case Anaya v. Quick Trim LLC, et al. Case No. CIV VS 1201177 to consider whether to approve the settlement August 5, 2013, at 8:30 a.m. before the Hon. Bryan F. Foster, California Superior Court Judge in Courtroom S37 in the Superior Court of the State of California for the County of San Bernardino.

THIS IS ONLY A SUMMARY OF THE SETTLEMENT AND YOUR RIGHTS. TO OBTAIN THE FULL CLASS NOTICE; FULL INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING A CLAIM, EXCLUDING YOURSELF OR FILING AN OBJECTION; OR FOR MORE INFORMATION, GO TO WWW.ANAYASUPPLEMENTSSETTLEMENT.COM, OR WRITE OR CALL THE SETTLEMENT ADMINISTRATOR AT PO BOX 2838, PORTLAND OR 97208-2838 OR 1-866-328-1994. DO NOT CALL OR WRITE TO THE COURT OR THE CLERK OF THE COURT. DO NOT CONTACT QUICKTRIM ABOUT THE SETTLEMENT. TELEPHONE REPRESENTATIVES ARE NOT AUTHORIZED TO CHANGE THE TERMS OF THE SETTLEMENT OR THIS NOTICE.

Dated: March 1, 2013, Superior Court California, San Bernardino.

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down.

In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

SPLIT PERSONALITIES

Can you identify the two celebrities we've merged together?

NOW that Halle Berry is pregnant, sources say she and her baby daddy Olivier Martinez have both changed their minds about marriage – and it might help the beauty in her custody battle with her ex-beau!

"Halle's going to have a shotgun wedding," proclaimed a family insider. "Olivier has never been particularly traditional in the past, but something about becoming a father has changed him."

Meanwhile, Oscar-winner Halle, already a single mom, swore she'd never marry again after her second union, to musician Eric Benet, ended in 2005. But she's apparently had a change of heart, too.

"SINCE BECOMING A MOM, SHE now knows what she needs and wants in a man," said the insider. "Olivier ticks all those boxes, and she's looking forward to walking down the aisle with a big baby bump."

The marriage could also solve a dilemma that Halle has been facing. She and Olivier both want to live in his native France, but a California judge ruled that she couldn't move out of the country with her 5-year-old daughter, Nahla, because it would make it difficult for the girl to see her father, Halle's ex-beau Gabriel Aubry. "Getting married could change the dynamic of the custody battle because it represents a stable home," top matrimonial attorney Raoul Felder told The ENQUIRER.

Gabriel Aubry, Halle's ex-beau, told authorities last November that he was beaten by Olivier Martinez. At left, Gabriel with daughter Nahla

Olivier Martinez

Pregnant beauty, 46, IS READY TO START A NEW LIFE

Halle, 46, and Olivier, 47, have been dating since 2010. They're hoping to tie the knot in a small chapel in the artists quarter of Paris.

"Olivier has wanted to leave Los Angeles for some time," said the insider. "The only reason he's stayed here was for Halle's sake."

"Now that she's pregnant, he doesn't want to wait any longer. He wants their child to be close to his relatives and friends."

Even if Halle gets a legal OK to move to France, she faces another potential problem. Medical experts say that her age coupled with the fact that she's diabetic raises the risk of dangerous health complications that could put both her and her unborn child in jeopardy.

Dr. Arthur Wisot, a fertility expert and gynecologist with Reproductive Partners Medical Group in Beverly Hills, told The ENQUIRER that the most serious risk a woman Halle's age faces is high blood pressure. There's also an increased chance of miscarriage and Down syndrome if she conceived naturally.

"She will need to be screened thoroughly with multimarker blood tests and high-level ultrasounds to ensure that the baby is healthy," said Dr. Wisot, who has not treated the actress.

The doctor adds that Halle will also need to be closely monitored by an endocrinologist because "irrespective of age, pregnancy worsens the course of diabetes" due to increased hormones and the stress of carrying the baby.

"She will definitely need extra surveillance by her physicians to ensure both her own health and that of the baby."

SOLUTION TO COLORCROSS #14, SEE PAGE 56

DAVE DAHL did 15 years behind bars during four stints in prison – but today the ex-con heads a booming bakery business with $54 million in annual revenue!

"Sometimes I have to pinch myself to tell myself this isn't a dream," said the 50-year-old father of two.

"I may be on top of the world now, but I pretty much came from the bottom. I was a mess."

Dahl worked at his father's bakery after finishing school, but he hated it, and began abusing drugs.

He turned to robbery to support his habit, and within a year, he was sentenced to seven years in jail.

OVER THE NEXT TWO DECADES, Dahl bounced in and out of prison for drug dealing, armed robbery, burglary and assault.

He got so depressed behind bars that he considered suicide.

"I felt like my life was over," said Dahl. "All I thought about was killing myself."

The turning point came in 2001 when he got medication for his depression while in prison.

"I finally started thinking about how I could make my life better," he said.

When he was released in

Dave (at left, and talking to an employee, above) has been known to put in an astonishing 100 hours a week at work

Jailbird makes $54M KILLING BAKING BREAD

2004, Dahl went to work at his late father's NatureBake bakery in Milwaukie, Ore., which was being run by his brother Glenn.

"I wanted to give Dave another chance," said Glenn. "I knew what he had done, but he was still my brother."

Soon Dahl was putting in 100-hour workweeks, experimenting with making different breads. In 2005, he combined seeds, nuts, grains and flour to whip up what he called Dave's Killer Bread.

"I came up with that name because I thought, 'Man, this is killer bread!'" he explained.

Dahl put his picture on the wrapper, along with a brief bio about his transformation from a life of crime.

"People in marketing said I shouldn't do it, but I figured folks love a turnaround story," he said.

Dahl knew he had a winner when he took 100 loaves of Dave's

Killer Bread to a farmer's market in Portland, and sold them all at a pricey $5 each.

Back then, NatureBake had 30 employees. Today, thanks to Dave, it has 250 employees and brought in $54 million in revenue last year. Each week it churns out 400,000 loaves in 16 varieties that are sold in 11 states.

Dahl now runs the company with his brother, and in 2012 the U.S. Small Business Association named NatureBake the Business of the Year in the Northwest.

One third of NatureBake's employees are ex-cons like Dahl, and he often visits prisons to talk to inmates.

"I want them to know that, no matter how bad things are, they should never give up hope," he said. "Because when everything seemed hopeless, I changed my life."
